

Sandy Brown Hair

What Products Do I Use If I Have Sandy Brown Hair? Gentle, Saturating Moisture For Soft, Defined Kids' Curls.

What Do I Use For Sandy Brown Hair?

Resistant like low porosity, thirsty like high porosity, so lead with moisture.

Here's what's interesting about sandy brown hair: it can be resistant to moisture like low porosity, yet it needs moisture like high porosity at the same time. So the whole approach is a heavy moisture focus, really saturate the hair, and always apply product on wet or damp hair so it can soak all the way in.

Because it behaves like high porosity, our High Porosity Guide helps here too.

In The Style: Go With The Flourish Line

Use moisturizing shampoo + conditioner pairs. You can mix and match across these freely, it doesn't matter which combo:

HONEY CRÈME

Honey Crème Shampoo + Honey Crème Masque

JOICO

Moisture Recovery Shampoo + Treatment Balm

FOOD FOR SOFT

Matrix Shampoo + Conditioner

How Often To Wash

- Focus on saturating the hair, and apply everything on wet or damp hair so the moisture soaks in instead of sitting on top.
- If your hair is super dehydrated, shampoo and condition more often to keep water moving back into it.

In The Style: Go With The Flourish Line

The Layering Rule

Layer thinnest to thickest: Leave-In → Cream-Oil → Foam → Gel → Butter. For sandy brown hair, this order locks moisture in beautifully

For Two Strands, Flat Twists, Buns & Any Natural Style (Not A Wash and Go)

- Shampoo, condition, and detangle
- On wet or damp hair, apply Mizani Miracle Milk (or your favorite leave-in)
- Flourish Nourishing Cream-Oil
- Flourish Hold Me Down Softly Moisturizing Gel
- Flourish Wrap Me In Softness Moisture Butter

This is your system for any style except a wash and go. Saturate every strand, sandy brown hair is thirsty.

Doing A Wash and Go?

Leave out the leave-in and the oil, and follow our Wash and Go Guide for the right product use.

Maintaining Your Style Between Washes

Keep It Light Day To Day

Always maintain with super light product, you don't want to keep piling heavy products onto the hair daily. Typically that's:

1. Mizani Miracle Milk
2. Flourish Nourishing Cream-Oil
3. Sometimes a little Flourish Set Me With Ease Hydrating Foam

Save the heavy layering for wash and style day. Daily upkeep stays light.

The Sandy Brown Hair Rule

Resistant but thirsty. Saturate, apply wet, and layer thin to thick, then maintain light. Moisture is everything.
